

Fine Masonry & Landscape Stone

Frontier™ Cap Stone & Treads

Sandstone from the Heart of Montana

Frontier is a versatile and sturdy sandstone quarried from ancient deposits in the high plains of central Montana. Featured here are examples of Frontier Sandstone custom cut as wall cap, column cap, windowsills and stair treads.

Chopped-edge cap can be made in lengths and widths up to 36". Cap larger than 36" can be sawn on the edges. Sawn edges to be exposed are typically provided with bush-hammered edges but can also be hand-chiseled by the masonry contractor.

Tumbling cap stones softens the edges, giving them a weathered appearance.

Frontier slabs can also be chopped or sawn into stair treads and risers. These are commonly installed over a concrete base. The exposed edges of sawn stair treads are typically bush-hammered.

Bush-hammered edge

Chimney caps can be provided in segments or can be single monolithic slabs.

We invite you to visit our website at www.selectstone.com to find more information on Frontier cap and treads, as well as all of the other stone products we offer. Our experienced sales staff is always available to answer questions, discuss your plans and ideas, and provide samples and pricing.